

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

GEORGE MOUSOURAKIS, Ph.D. (University of Edinburgh, UK) is Associate Professor and Coordinator of the Legal Studies Program at the Faculty of International Relations, Ritsumeikan University, Kyoto, Visiting Professor at the Graduate School of Social Sciences, Hiroshima University and Fellow of the Max Planck Institute, Frankfurt. His research interests lie in the areas of comparative law, philosophy of criminal law and history of legal thought. His extensive portfolio of written work includes several books and a large number of articles, book chapters, book reviews and other works published internationally in English and other languages. He is currently member of various academic and professional bodies and regularly invited to participate in national and international scholarly conferences and workshops.

DALMACITO A. CORDERO, JR., Ph.D. (De la Salle University, Manila) is an Associate Professor of the Theology and Religious Education Department of De La Salle University. He also taught in University of Santo Tomas, De La Salle-College of St. Benilde, Philippine Women's University, Don Bosco-Makati and Don Bosco-Tarlac. He earned his Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy at Our Lady of Peace College Seminary, Master of Arts in Theological Studies, magna cum laude at San Sebastian College-Recoletos, and Doctor of Philosophy in Applied Theology at De La Salle University. He authored several published journal articles, a textbook in Christian morality, and had presented papers in various academic conferences. His research interests are in the fields of moral theology, sexual ethics, youth studies, and liturgical music.

VIRGILIO A. RIVAS, MPR (Ateneo de Manila University, Quezon City) is a doctoral student and finishing his dissertation on F.W.J Schelling at the University of Santo Tomas. Currently, a full-time faculty of the Department of Philosophy of the Polytechnic University of the Philippines. His interest in Schelling intersects with broader theoretical topics concerning the latter's philosophy of nature and his larger contributions to German Idealism, key ideas that have influenced the paradigmatic shift to post-phenomenological thinking in critical theory, psychoanalysis, political philosophy, philosophy of religion and in cultural and environmental studies. The author was the former Editor-in-Chief of the Mabini Review, CHED-accredited journal (listed in 2015). He is presently a member of the Board of Directors of the Philosophical Association of the Philippines.

JOSEPH MARTIN M. JOSE, MPR (De La Salle University, Manila) recently obtained his Master in Philosophical Research degree at De La Salle University-Manila, a degree awarded to students in the Ph.D. in Philosophy-Ladderized Program after successfully satisfying specific requirements. He also finished his bachelor's degree in philosophy, summa cum laude, at the same university. In 2018, he won a consolation prize in the Don Isabelo de los Reyes Essay Prize in Filipino Philosophy by the Philosophical Association of the Philippines. His research interests include philosophical approaches to internet studies, existential philosophy, and Filipino philosophy. josephmartinjose@gmail.com NINOTCHKA MUMTAJ B. ALBANO M.A. (De La Salle University, Manila) is a Ph.D student at De La Salle University-Manila where she is currently writing her dissertation on the male nude and the nature of objectification in visual art. She is a doctoral research apprentice under the DLSU Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research and Innovation, assigned to the Assistant Dean for Research and Advanced Studies of the DLSU College of Liberal Arts. Her research interests include philosophy of art and aesthetics, feminist aesthetics, existentialism and eastern philosophy.

DANILO S. ALTERADO, Ph.D. (Ateneo de Manila University, Quezon City) is professor of philosophy at Saint Louis University, Baguio City. He is currently the Associate Dean for the Liberal Arts, School of Teacher Education and Liberal Arts of Saint Louis University. His research interest is on the critical social theory vis-à-vis politics of identity, cultural heritage discourses, and Ilokano philosophy. He is presently the president of the Philosophical Association of Northern Luzon (PANL), a board member of the Philosophical Association of the Philippines (PAP), and the Vice Chair of the Philippine National Philosophical Research Society (PNPRS).

ALDRIN S. JARAMILLA, M.A. (Saint Louis University, Baguio City) is an Associate Professor I of the University of Northern Philippines in Vigan City. He is currently pursuing a doctorate degree in Saint Louis University. As an active member-officer of the Philosophical Association of Northern Luzon (PANL) and a member of the Nakem International Conferences (Nakem), he has presented papers that revolve around topics or themes on Philosophy and Culture, Philosophy and Heritage, as well as Philosophy, Arts and Aesthetics.

EDWIN ETIEYIBO, Ph.D. (University of Alberta, Canada) teaches philosophy at the Department of Philosophy, University of the Witwatersrand. He specializes in ethics, social and political philosophy, global justice, social contract theories, history of philosophy, and African philosophy. He is the co-author (with Odirn Omiegbe) of Disabilities in Nigeria: Attitudes, Reactions, and Remediation (2017, Hamilton Books) and editor of the volumes, Perspectives in Social Contract Theory (2018, CRVP), Decolonisation, Africanisation and the Philosophy Curriculum (2018, Routledge), and Method, Substance and the Future of African Philosophy (2018, Palgrave Macmillan). Currently, he serves as the Secretary of the International Society for African Philosophy and Studies (ISAPS) and Editor-in-Chief of the South African Journal of Philosophy.

EMMANUEL IFEANYI ANI, Ph.D. (Nnamdi Azikiwe University, Nigeria) is currently a Senior Lecturer at the University of Ghana, Legon. He obtained a National Diploma (ND) and a Higher National Diploma (HND) in Mass Communication with Distinction from the Institute of Journalism, Management and Continuing Education, Enugu State University of Science and Technology (ESUT) Consult, a BA in Philosophy from the University of Ibadan, a B. Phil in Philosophy from the Pontificia Università Urbaniana Roma (Urban Pontifical University, Rome), Italy, an MA and a PhD in Philosophy from Nnamdi Azikiwe University, Nigeria. Awarded best graduating student at graduate and post-graduate levels, he is a member of the American Philosophical Association and the Nigerian Philosophical Association. He was editor of Fact Magazine and is co-founder of Teleads Career Services. He has published in sixteen journals around the world.