The original version of this article unfortunately contained a mistake. There were two slight text errors. The correct text information are given below.

In the second line of the last paragraph in section "Reply to Yi" right before the "Conclusion", the text should read as:

“atypical or, as Yi suggests, are more typical than we appear to suppose”.
and

In the middle of the same paragraph, the text should read as:

“...Note that a proponent of the Brueckner/Fischer approach can accept that it would be rational to regret late birth somewhat, if it really were true that Learning Japanese represents the typical case.”
