The second sentence on page 317 reads “The challenge is that, prima facie, it is hard to see how a negative truth, e.g., <there are no unicorns> of something could be (or even needs to be) made true by the existence of some entity”.

This sentence should read “The challenge is that, prima facie, it is hard to see how a negative truth, e.g., <there are no unicorns> that is concerned with the non-existence of something could be (or even needs to be) made true by the existence of some entity”.
