

Erratum to: Three Kinds of Constructionism: The Role of Metaphor in the Debate over Niche Constructionism

Emanuele Archetti<sup>1</sup>

Published online: 6 August 2015
© Konrad Lorenz Institute for Evolution and Cognition Research 2015

Erratum to: Biol Theory (2015) 10:103–115 DOI 10.1007/s13752-015-0205-3

During production of the above mentioned article two errors were introduced in Table 1. Please find below the correct version of Table 1.

Table 1 Kinds of metaphors and their connections with construction activities

Figure of speech based on	White's categorization	Kinds of construction	Types of activity	Result of construction	Relation with broad and narrow distinction
Analogy	Type 1	Literal	Construction as product	Artifact	Narrow construction
Analogy	Type 2	Analogical	Construction as process	Behavior	Broad construction
Metaphor	Type 3	Figurative	Construction as interaction	Relationship	Broad construction

The online version of the original article can be found under doi:10.1007/s13752-015-0205-3.

✉ Emanuele Archetti
emanuele.archetti@gmail.com

<sup>1</sup> Centre for History and Philosophy of Science, The School of PRHS, University of Leeds, Leeds, UK